THE PROBLEM · WHO IT'S FOR

Two businesses, one team, too many tools.

Pina runs a real-estate brokerage and a plastering contractor, AP Plastering, out of the same office. The same people chase seller leads in the morning and price stucco bids in the afternoon.

Before the platform, each part of the work lived somewhere else: leads in a paid CRM, escrow deadlines in email threads, MLS math in spreadsheets, bids in PDFs, payroll in another sheet. Nothing linked a lead to the deal it became, or a bid to the crew who built it.

Half the team works from the Philippines on a California business day. Every extra login and every slow screen costs them hours, so the app was built to open instantly from cache and stay quick across the Pacific.

Acquisition reps	Work a call queue, text from the app, and never let a new lead wait.
Transaction coordinators	Keep every deal on its contract dates from offer to close of escrow.
Estimators & PMs	Take off drawings, price bids, schedule crews and bill progress.
Owners & admins	See pipeline, accountability and payroll across both businesses.

KEY FEATURES

Built around the work, not the database.

Six modules carry most of the day. Each one is shown below with sample data, drawn from the live screens.

LEADS CRM

Every lead scored, owned and on a clock.

New leads arrive from intake forms, the Quo phone line and imports. Each one gets a score, an owner from round-robin, and a speed-to-lead timer.

- Smart lists for hot, uncontacted and follow-up-due leads
- Lead pond returns untouched leads for anyone to claim
- Tags, bulk edit, CSV and merge keep the list clean

MY DAY

One screen that says what to do next.

My Day pulls the rep's whole morning into one list: the call queue, hot leads, follow-ups due, deals needing attention and today's appointments. When everything is handled it says so.

- Call queue with one-tap Call and Text through the company line
- Daily targets from the accountability goals, updated as you work
- Managers can open a teammate's day to coach from the same view

DEAL TRANSACTION WORKSPACE

From signed offer to close of escrow, on one page.

When an MLS offer is accepted it becomes a deal, and the parties, price and dates carry over. The Transaction tab then tracks every contract date and disclosure the California purchase agreement requires.

- Waiting on shows what each party still owes and for how long
- Client updates written in English or Spanish, ready to send
- Wire safety check before any money moves

MLS ANALYZER

Run the numbers three ways before making an offer.

Every MLS property gets an Analysis tab that models it as a flip, a rental or BRRRR, or a wholesale assignment. The offer deadline sits on the card so no one misses it.

- Max allowable offer from ARV, rehab, holding and transfer tax
- Hot sheet and price history show what just changed
- Buyers tab matches the property to buyers already in the CRM

AP PLASTERING BIDS & TAKEOFF

Measure the drawings, price the bid, win the job.

Each bid moves through six stages, from setup to awarded or lost. Estimators open the plans in a full takeoff workspace, calibrate the scale and trace walls, and the quantities feed the estimate.

- Takeoff tools for area, linear feet, counts, clouds and callouts
- Assemblies turn one traced wall into lath, stucco and trim lines
- GC outreach and bid analytics with real loss reasons

EXECUTION CENTER

Projects, sprints and the work behind them.

The Execution Center holds every internal project, from a marketing push to a payroll change. Tasks move through four plain statuses, sprints group the week, and a workload view shows who is carrying what.

- Review queue with real approve and request-changes
- Sprint tracker visible from anywhere in the app
- Notifications when a task lands in your project

Also in the platform: Home Touring with shareable tour pages, Contacts, Calendar, Reports, Mail synced from Outlook, the Quo phone line with two-way texting, Campaigns, Accountability goals, HR and Payroll, the Business Vault, and an Academy with guided tutorials.

THE USER FLOW

A lead's path from first call to closed deal.

The steps below follow one seller lead through the real-estate side. Every step happens inside the same record, so nothing is retyped.

STEP 1

Lead arrives

A seller fills in the intake form. The lead is scored and assigned by round-robin within seconds.

Leads · intake form

STEP 2

Rep calls first

It appears at the top of My Day with a speed-to-lead timer. Call and text go out through the company line.

My Day · Quo Phone

STEP 3

Property analyzed

The house is run as a flip, rental or wholesale deal, and a max offer is set.

MLS · Analysis tab

STEP 4

Offer becomes a deal

On acceptance the offer converts to a deal. Parties, price and dates carry over.

MLS · Offers → Deals

STEP 5

Escrow tracked

Contract deadlines, waiting-on items and client updates run until close of escrow.

Deals · Transaction tab

STEP 6

Results counted

The closing rolls into Reports, source ROI and each rep's accountability score.

Reports · Accountability

SCREENS

On the phone, too.

The app runs as a phone app with a bottom bar and a More hub. Lists turn into cards and dialogs become bottom sheets.

UI KIT IN CONTEXT

One look, taken from the transaction tab.

Every screen shares one small kit: bordered section cards on a white canvas, borderless inset rows, soft tone pills and text-link actions. No shadows, and nothing heavier than medium weight.

Colour

One blue for actions, a warm off-white for rows, and soft tones that always mean the same thing.

Primary `#1976D2`	Link ink `#2457A8`	Progress `#3B78E7`	Inset row `#F7F7F5`
Text `Slate 900`	Secondary `Slate 500`

New Lead · ✓ Confirmed · Working on it · Stuck · Overdue · Referral · Nurture

Emerald, amber and red always mean success, warning and danger. Violet is for neutral categories like source or lender.

Type

Inter throughout. Hierarchy comes from size and colour, never bold.

`17 / 500`	Contract deadlines
`15 / 500`	Homeowners insurance not bound

WHAT'S NEXT

The roadmap.

The platform grows with the business. These are the next pieces in planning or waiting on a partner.

PLANNING

Field app for crews

A separate phone app for AP Plastering crews, using the same logins and syncing both ways with the office.

IN BUILD

AI estimating assistant

An assistant that reads drawings and drafts takeoffs and estimates for the estimator to check.

WAITING ON PARTNER

SkySlope sync

Pull transaction files and checklists from SkySlope straight into the deal record.

NEXT PHASE

Deeper CRM tools

Relationship tracking, smarter follow-up timing and more reports for the owner.
